The Problem

AML/CTF compliance is often fragmented across multiple disconnected steps:

- Beneficial ownership, KYC and risk assessments are handled separately
- Escalation to enhanced due diligence is inconsistent
- Senior managers cannot clearly justify decisions
- Audit records are incomplete or scattered

AML/CTF compliance is not a checklist. It is a chain of decisions, and most systems do not connect them.

The Solution

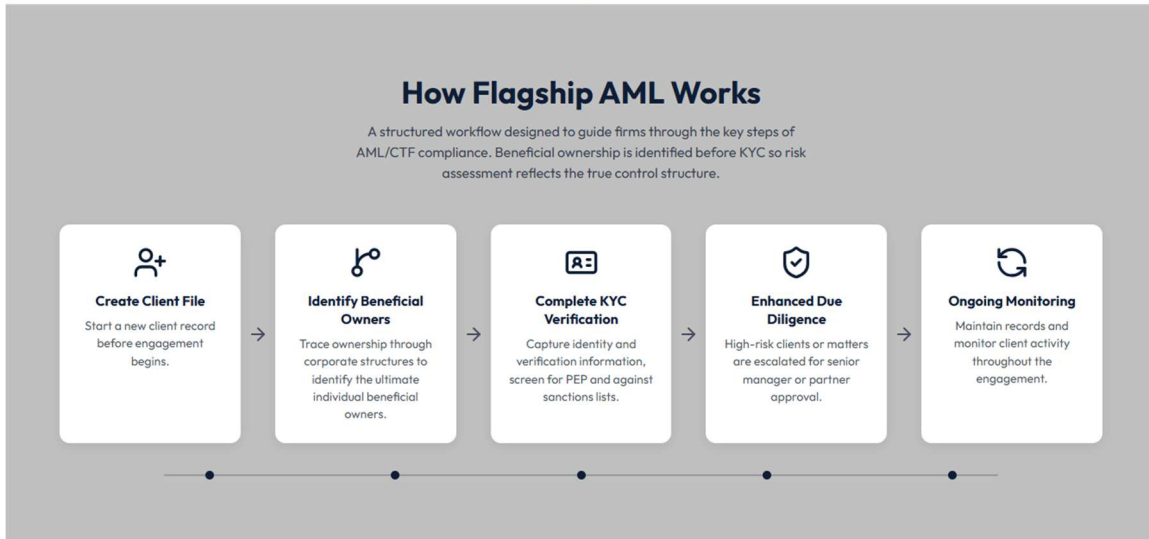

Flagship AML brings together beneficial ownership, customer due diligence, ML/TF risk assessment, escalation to enhanced due diligence and audit ready documentation in a single workflow.

Every step feeds the next. Nothing is duplicated. Nothing is lost.

The screenshot displays the Flagship AML interface. On the left is a dark blue sidebar with navigation options: Dashboard, Clients (selected), Tasks, Sanctions Screening, AML/CTF Program, Training, Reports, Settings, Referral, and Support. The main content area shows the client profile for 'Energy Logistics Pty Ltd'. At the top right is a 'Logout' button. Below the client name is a 'Client Compliance Status' section with a progress bar at 50% completion. It includes status indicators: 'BO: Final (Locked)', 'KYC: Submitted for Review', 'Sanctions: Cleared', and 'EDD: Required'. Below this is a 'Next Review' and 'Overall Risk: Pending Approval' section. A horizontal bar below shows the status of each step: Beneficial Ownership (Complete), KYC (Submitted for Review), EDD (Locked), and Monitoring (Locked). Below this bar are tabs for Overview, Beneficial Ownership, KYC, EDD, Documents, and Timeline. A light blue notification box states: 'KYC submitted for review. This record is locked pending Senior Manager / Partner approval.' At the bottom, there is a 'Client Overview' section.

How It Works

Beneficial Ownership

Ownership is traced through multiple layers to identify ultimate beneficial owners. The beneficial ownership calculator is provided at no extra cost.

Step 3 – Trace Ownership Through Entities

Trace each non-individual owner until all branches end in individuals. Add owners for every entity listed below (e.g. XYZ Ltd, 123 Ltd) before continuing.

```
Xanadu Investments Pty Ltd
-> XYZ Pty Ltd – 50.00%
-> Michael Green – 100.00%
-> Canex Investments Pty Ltd – 50.00%
-> Bianca Browne – 100.00%
```

Entities requiring tracing

Canex Investments Pty Ltd – 50.0% of Xanadu Investments Pty Ltd

Owners added: Bianca Browne (100.0%)

✓ Fully traced (100.0%). No further owners required.

XYZ Pty Ltd – 50.0% of Xanadu Investments Pty Ltd

Owners added: Michael Green (100.0%)

✓ Fully traced (100.0%). No further owners required.

KYC and Risk Assessment

Customer due diligence and risk assessment are performed together, ensuring consistent outcomes.

ML / TF Risk Assessment

Do any aspects of this client or transaction give you reason to suspect money laundering, terrorism financing, or other criminal activity?

Yes

No

Unsure – escalate for review

Based on the client, source of funds, and transaction characteristics, what is the risk that this matter could be used for money laundering?

Low

Medium

High – enhanced due diligence and consider SMR

Based on the client profile, geographic connections, and transaction purpose, what is the risk that this matter could be linked to terrorism financing?

Low

Medium

High – enhanced DD and consider SMR

Unsure – escalate for review

Does the engagement involve aggressive tax planning?

Yes

No

ENHANCED DUE DILIGENCE RISK REVIEW

This EDD Risk Review satisfies obligations under the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing Act 2006 (Cth), the AML/CTF Rules, and AUSTRAC guidance. This form must be completed and approved by a Senior Manager or Partner before a high-risk client or matter may proceed.

EDD initiation method: System-generated from KYC high-risk indicators.

Inherent risk from KYC: HIGH

EDD trigger rationale: EDD triggered by KYC risk factors.

Regulatory reporting considerations:

- SMR — User indicated suspicion of ML/TF
- TTR — Cash transaction ≥ AUD 10,000

I have considered whether an SMR is required

I have considered whether a TTR is required

Outcome

Flagship AML produces a complete, audit-ready record capturing beneficial ownership, customer due diligence, risk assessment outcomes and enhanced due diligence.

Every compliance decision is captured, justified and ready for audit.

The Result:

- Consistent risk-based decisions
- Clear escalation to high risk and EDD
- Full audit trail of reasoning and approvals
- Reduced manual work and duplication
- Senior management oversight embedded

Flagship AML transforms AML/CTF compliance from a fragmented obligation into a structured, defensible decision making process.
